Hello,

The team and I aboard the Gene Chaser vessel are extremely excited to have you all joining us aboard in just a few short days. We are looking forward to seeing your amazing LLMs + Bio projects and seeing who will win the $10,000 in cash prizes as well as the potential for $400,000 USD in future support to develop your project into a startup.

First, ALL during-event communications will occur through Discord. Make sure you have notifications ON please. Invite link in this email.

Please read this email in its entirety. There is important information that should answer your questions!

1. Dataset access: If you are applying for access to academic datasets and don't have a requisite academic affiliation, you are allowed to use Dr. Jonathan Rothberg's Yale University affiliation. He is an Adjunct Professor of Genetics. Please abide by all dataset rules.
Be sure to download datasets before the hackathon.

2. When can I leave? The vessel will remain anchored at the One 15 Marina Sentosa Cove dock for the duration of the event. You will be able to leave at any time at night.

3. Hackathon topics? Attached. Your team must work on one of the hackathon topics provided to be eligible for prizes.

5. Event comms? We will be using Discord as our mandatory communication platform. If you have not joined, join ASAP: <https://discord.gg/dnqRvvZB>

6. Parking? There is a fee for parking at the Sentosa Cove parking lot so we encourage public transport or carpooling.

7. Exact dock #? Will be shared in Discord when we have the specific instructions. For now, it's One 15 Marina Sentosa Cove. A dock within that Marina.

8. +1 for Touch the Future Guest List email me ASAP if you still want to bring a +1. You are responsible for the conduct of your guests at the event. Please invite well-mannered responsible guests only.

9. Bring your ID! This will be necessary to allow you into the event.

10. Other questions? I have been answering common questions in the Discord server so please check there and try to ask in Discord, rather than through email. This enables other participants to benefit from the answer as well.

Thank you and once again, we are tremendously looking forward to welcoming you aboard this Friday morning.

A Big Thank You to our lovely partners, SGInnovate and Lambda who is generously providing GPU compute to hackers.

Andrew
